Over the Pastor's Shoulder

Our attitudes make a difference in how we live. If we have what I like to call grr-attitude, we live mincingly, stressfully, small-minded, and confused. If we have real gratitude on the other hand, life opens like a flower, and we live happily and expansively.

Let me tell you about a man who was dramatically reminded of this and had his grr-attitude changed to a real sense of gratitude. I first heard this story told by Fred Craddock and I'm grateful to him for sharing it.

Clarence was a poor man. He had a large family – six children – and money was always scarce for them. There was a time when the children were small when three of their six pairs of shoes were worn out from skipping rope and using them as brakes to stop wagons and tricycles from speeding down the hill.

Yet as badly as the children needed shoes, the family needed a washing machine worse. The old machine had simply coughed and died. Clarence saw an ad in the paper for a second-hand machine and went to look at it. The address led him to a well-to-do neighborhood, and he found himself feeling a lot of anger as he rang the doorbell of a large home. Why did other people have so much, he wondered, and his family so little?

When the man and woman who owned the old machine told him how little they would sell it for, it cheered him considerably – so much, in fact, that he found himself confessing to them what a hard time his family was having, and how three of the children had worn out their shoes by playing so hard in them.

"You must be very happy," Clarence said to them. The woman turned suddenly and left the room.

Clarence apologized to the husband. "I'm sorry," he said. "I didn't mean to offend your wife."

"Oh, you didn't offend her," said the man. "You see, we have only one child -- a little girl --and she's never walked a step in her life."

Clarence concluded arrangements for the washing machine and went home. He went to his room and closed the door. He got down on his knees and asked God to forgive him for fretting about the little inconveniences of life. He got out the three pairs of shoes that were worn from skipping and making brakes for a wagon, and held them for a long time.

"I was so thankful," he said, for three pairs of worn-out shoes, for two boys that could ride a wagon and a girl that could skip rope."

A touching story to be sure. Here was a man who started with grr-attitude and ended with a real sense of gratitude. Life looked entirely different to him after that. He realized how important it is to see God's hand of blessing in whatever we have and to give thanks for that regardless of how much or how little we have.

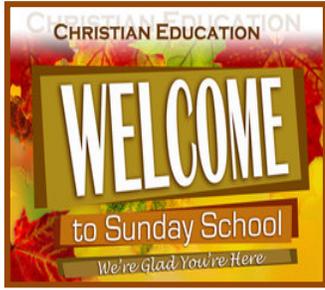

In this season of Thanksgiving, I encourage you to let go of any and all feelings of grr-attitude. Cultivate a real sense of gratitude. Take the apostle Paul's counsel to heart, "Rejoice always, pray continually, give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus."

I pray you have a truly blessed Thanksgiving.

Grace and Peace,

Pastor Jim

Congregational Vitality News

Forty-one members and friends participated in the Vitality Seminar led by Peter Sjoblom, on September 23 and 24. Peter introduced us to the language of vitality by helping us reflect truthfully upon the health of Trinity. We explored the four types of churches in the Covenant:

1. The healthy missional church
2. The stable church
3. The critical moment church
4. The at-risk church.

The consensus of those in attendance is that Trinity is somewhere between the stable and critical moment church. There are many positives in our life together. There is much that happens here that we feel good about. But we can't deny that we are an older and aging congregation. When we look in the mirror we're not what we used to be. The trajectory we're on can easily create a sense of anxiety and inadequacy. We're often more fearful than hopeful in regards to the church's future.

Please pray for Pastor Jim, Melissa Panush, Matt Panush, and Kelly Bradbury. We will be participating in "Navigate" with other Covenant pastors and lay people in Minneapolis on November 4-6. The "Navigate" weekend is designed to catalyze our journey on the congregational vitality pathway. Working with other churches should prove to be a great source of encouragement and support as we determine how best to plan and grow into the future God surely has in store for us.

On the return from the "Navigate" weekend, a vitality committee will be formed that will be making various recommendations to the church board regarding future ministries in both the local church setting and beyond.

Pray that God will inspire and lead us every step of the way in our journey together and just remember Vitality takes longer than planned, is messier than expected, and requires great determination from all of us.

Tuesday Morning Women's Bible Study

It is interesting to see how lives are drawn together by a power many consider chance or luck while others vow assurance of divine intervention.

Things don't happen without reason and, fortunately, children of God are privileged to recognize and participate in the ordained workings of The Trinity in situations which always benefit them.

Our intern pastor Mitch Haaby, in his worship message of October 16th, prompted this article when asked, "What is your name?"

Our Bible study of selected Biblical personalities have contributed to and shaped the historical and spiritual life of the church. We are the church. In beginning times God chose to change names, e.g. Daniel, the three Hebrew boys, Paul, Abraham, Peter and others familiar to us. Challenges were met and overcome by knowing God personally and applying His guidance and gifts through prayer and obedience.

Our cameo snippets these months reveal the importance of a name.

In a later generation, closer to our immediate heritage, family names were quickly changed as immigrants formed the lengthy lines at Ellis Island.

Mitch Haaby's grandfather took the name of a farm in Norway, which was a hasty blessing, as papers were signed that day giving special meaning for generations to come. Thus, for many, a common occurrence in the late 1800's and early 1900's. Did it make a difference – depending! New name, new country, new ambitions, new life.

God expects and commands His children to mark their lives with meaning – His individual plan for each holder of His creation.

We continue this month processing names and stories of forebearers who are part and parcel of who we are. Think on this – Jesus has over three hundred names which give us a flawless and multifaceted portrait of his message and mission.

We not only answer Mitch's question but continue with, What meaning are you giving to your name? And, Is your name written there?

Obituary: Dr. Roger Thorpe

cov covenantcompanion.com/2016/10/07/obituary-dr-roger-thorpe/

By Stan Friedman

10/7/2016

CHICAGO, IL (October 7, 2016) – Dr. Roger Thorpe, who served for 30 years in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, died this morning. He was 84.

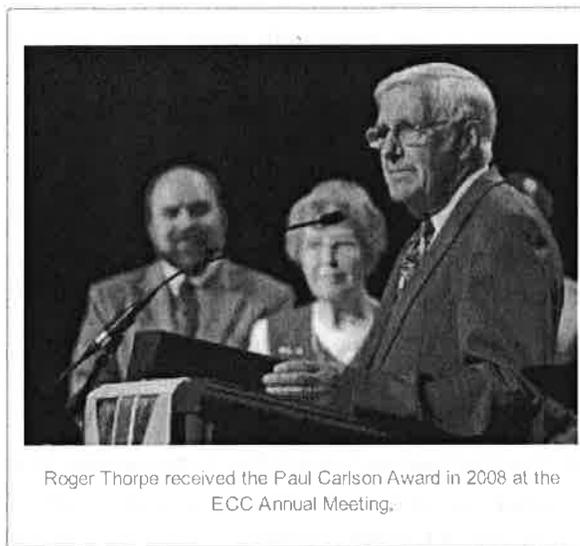

“Roger was a truly astounding person of exemplary faith, skill, dedication, humility and compassion,” ECC president Gary Walter said this afternoon. “He was a remarkable husband and dad, brilliant physician, and servant-hearted in every relationship and circumstance. He is the rare person who made you want to be a better person just by being with him.”

All of those traits were seen in the multiple instances in which he also exhibited great courage. Roger, along with former executive minister of World Mission Curt Peterson, were nearly killed when they were taken hostage by a militia during an uprising in Kinshasa in 2007. Both barely managed to escape amid the chaos. They shared their story in a Companion article published that year.

Prior to their capture, they had been sheltered in the police station while fighting continued around them. The article noted that, “For Roger, almost as bad as the tension of being under fire was the feeling of helplessness. He wanted to help but had nothing with him—no bandages, no needles, no stethoscope, no sutures. There was nothing he could do to help the wounded. It was a feeling that ate at him as he waited.”

“Our experience in the valley of the shadow of death in Kinshasa in 2007 bonded us as brothers,” Peterson said. “From that day on we greeted each other with comforting hugs, asking ‘How are you doing?’ and sharing recurring dreams of the trauma. We also shared with gratitude the deep awareness of the grace and peace of God during those days. I’m thankful that Roger had nearly a decade more time to love and serve Christ, his family and his beloved Covenant church.”

In 1991, most Covenant missionaries evacuated Zaire, as Congo was called then, due to war. However, Roger and his wife, Eileen, stayed behind to help with a medical transition process before they returned to the United States.

Roger Thorpe received the Paul Carlson Award in 2008 at the ECC Annual Meeting.

For Roger, almost as bad as the tension of being under fire was the feeling of helplessness. He wanted to help but had nothing with him—no bandages, no needles, no stethoscope, no sutures. There was nothing he could do to help the wounded. It was a feeling that ate at him as he waited.

Fellow missionary Jan Thornbloom said, “Dr. Rog always gave 120 percent of himself to caring for others. He did not think twice if, after a 12- or 14-hour day, he had to return to the hospital for surgery. His love for his work was reflected in his smile as he finished a successful surgery or held a newborn in his arms.”

In an email, Thornbloom added, “A word that comes to mind when I think of Dr Rog is ‘Always.’ He was Always nearby when he was needed, Always cheerful, Always fun, Always there to help in whatever way he could, just plain ‘Always.’”

He was always teaching. Eileen shared during a chapel service at Covenant Offices how Roger had broken the bone around his eye in a motorcycle accident in 1972. He oversaw his own treatment despite great pain. There was no other doctor so he was treated by two nurses.

“Roger did not want any pain killer because he wanted to give directions as the nurses proceeded—you manage cuts on the eyelid and around the eye differently than other cuts because scarring can make a bad-fitting eyelid,” Eileen said. “So he laid on the OR table with cerebrospinal fluid coming from his nose, sign of a skull fracture, going into shock, and gave instruction on the repair of the skin.”

The Thorpes were called to missionary service in 1965 and began serving in Zaire (now the Democratic Republic of the Congo) in 1966. They served primarily at the Karawa station, where Roger performed an average of two to three surgeries a day along with doing other patient evaluations. Additionally he served as the medical director at the Karawa Hospital, taught at the auxiliary nurses’ school six to ten hours a week, and mentored several Congolese doctors. At one point, he was the only physician serving an area the size of Indiana and Illinois combined.

“His extraordinary skills as a surgeon and tropical medicine physician saved the lives of countless men, women and children,” Peterson recalled. “One of his greatest joys was seeing some of his former students serving with distinction in clinics and hospitals in recent years. Roger was always the teacher, always the encourager.”

The couple retired from missionary service in 1996, and he worked as a part-time physician at Swedish Covenant Hospital.

In 1994, the Thorpes received the Commander of the National Order of Zaire award, which was one of the highest honors given in that country. The couple was named Alumni of the Year at North Park University in 2001 and received the Paul Carlson Award, named for the slain missionary physician, at the 2008 ECC Annual Meeting.

Roger felt the call to missionary service by the time he was in the eighth grade. He decided the summer before starting college that he also wanted to combine that ministry with a medical career.

Roger was born February 19, 1932, in Stephenson, Michigan. He earned an associate’s degree at North Park College and a bachelor of arts at the University of Michigan, where he also graduated from medical school. He studied one year at North Park Seminary.

Roger married Eileen Adell on December 21, 1953.

In addition to Eileen, Roger is survived by two daughters, Christine Olfelt and Dr. Laurie Thorpe; and two sons, Charles Thorpe and Douglas Thorpe.

A memorial service will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 11, at North Park Church.

Pre-K Classroom

During the month of November the children will focus on the letters Nn, Mm, Hh & Ss and numbers 0-10.

3's - 4's Classroom

During the month, the children will focus on letters Aa-Ff and numbers 0-4.

A NOTE FROM...

Mrs. Palazzolo & Mrs. Wojcik

Dear Parents/ Guardians,

What a wonderful time of the year! During this holiday season, we are reminded of how truly blessed we are.

For the month October we reviewed our vowels and learned letters Oo, Tt, Ll and Bb. The children are doing an excellent job on recognizing these letters and their sounds.

As we progress through the month of November, the children will continue to work on letter sounds and recognition, number, shape and color recognition. We will continue to focus on the vowels and learn letters Nn, Mm, Hh and Ss.

Please continue working with your child daily on letter sounds and recognition. Reviewing these will help promote reading readiness. We began working on blending sounds and learning the alphabet blend ladders. The children enjoy sounding out the blend words using the blend ladders!

We are very proud of each one of the children! They are doing a great job recognizing their names and are continuing to practice printing their names. Way to go and keep up the great work! Please remind your child when printing the letters, we print from top to bottom. Also, please remind your child of the proper pencil grip.

Please note our Pre-K program is available 5-days a week. If you are interested in sending your child for the 5-day program, please see Mrs. Palazzolo.

If at any time you have questions or concerns, please feel free to me.

Looking forward to Parent/Teacher Conferences coming up in December!

Sincerely,

Mrs. Palazzolo & Mrs. Wojcik

A NOTE FROM...

Ms. Amanda & Mrs. Theodossopoulos

Dear Parents/Guardians,

What a beautiful fall it's been! The children are beginning to notice the color changes of the leaves.

During this month we are reminded of what we are thankful for. Mrs. Theodossopoulos and I are thankful for working with your children! It's amazing how quickly the time passes. It is a joy to watch them learn and grow. It seems like just yesterday was the first day of school and now here we are in November!

The children have learned so much and have settled into our daily routine. We are proud of each and every one of them!

This month we will work on letters A through F, continue practicing numbers 1-15 and recognizing numbers 1- 4. We will also continue to work on the basic shapes and colors as well.

You may notice your child's coloring is improving as staying in the lines gets easier with practice!

We would like to wish you and your family a Happy Thanksgiving!

Sincerely,

Ms. Amanda and Mrs. Theodossopoulos
